

Vitalyz SPA & Nintendo Wii and Communication 4hr training workshop

- Carers who understand the potential of regular physical activities are encouraged to offer a more person-centred and sustainable service.
- Why should activity provision be the sole responsibility of the activity coordinator? Vitalyz promote the 'team' approach to activities.
- Technology is coming into care settings but do people realise the potential risks OR benefits? Vitalyz have examined the Nintendo Wii and offer a range of practical ideas and tips.

Aims and objectives

Section 1 – Introducing learners to a variety of exercises that can be included in a basic seated activity session. Practical group work will help re-enforce the learning process and enable learners to deliver this activity straight away. Learners are encouraged to think about health & safety, risk assessments and appropriate record keeping for activities.

Section 2 – Learners are invited to explore the exciting potential of using Wii, Wii FIT etc. with their clients and in social care settings. There is a practical demonstration of how to set up the Wii Fit Balance board for seated use which is useful for rehabilitation as well as for less able clients. This 'hands on' learning experience includes Health & safety issues as well as record keeping.

Section 3 – Communication skills are even more important than usual because this technology is 'alien' to most clients so learners are given some appropriate ideas on delivering this activity.

Outcomes

Learners will:

- Explore a variety of ways of delivering a FUN, meaningful, and stimulating seated physical activity session.
- Gain a basic understanding of developing appropriate activities for adults.
- Discover how useful the Nintendo Wii & the Balance Board can be for rehabilitation as well as for seated use.
- Understand how to make the most of 'gaming' technology in their own care settings.
- Receive comprehensive workshop notes, a certificate of attendance and a Vitalyz lapel pin
- Take away what they have been shown and start using it straight away!

Suitable for - Carers, Health care support workers, Social Care Management, Healthcare professionals and Volunteers - to name but a few! This workshop is informative for those working/intending to work in care settings, remembering that activity provision is NOT only for activity providers.
